

Sunday Kids!

Sunday October 18th 2020

Learning and Caring

Hi everyone!!!

I hope you've had a great week? It's definitely feeling a bit more like Autumn this week, hope you've got those cosy socks and warm jumpers ready! Hot chocolate anyone?

Today, at church, we are still thinking about our theme "Discipleship" which is a fancy word that means "being a good friend of Jesus". Lloyd talks about "learning and caring" being two ways we can be really good friends to Jesus.

It's great that we can learn loads of amazing things about Jesus by listening to other "disciples," reading our bibles, watching DVDs (Our favourites are Vegetales!!) as well as reading other books about Jesus (I love "You are Special" by Max Lucado).

Our bible reading is Ephesians 3 :14-21. Paul (a really good friend of Jesus) writes to a church where he has lots of friends (called Ephesus) and says that he hopes they all learn just how much God loves them. God wants us all to know this too, isn't that good!! To remind us of this passage, print out, or copy out the bible verse on page 2. Look at the words in bold and use them to help you come up with ideas to decorate the border around the edge of the page.

Then, see if you can learn verse 18 from Ephesians 3. Write each word on a post-it or scrap of paper . Put them out in front of you and read it out. Then remove one of the words and read it again. Keep removing a word and saying the verse until you say the whole verse off by heart.

A book is a great symbol of learning new things so our craft activity today is to make a little book out of a single sheet of paper. Follow the instructions on page 3 (it's really easy, honest!!) or follow the link to https://www.kitchentableclassroom.com/how-to -make-a-book-from-a-single-piece-of-paper/ where you can print out a cool template and follow the video instructions too.

Have lots of fun doing today's activities!

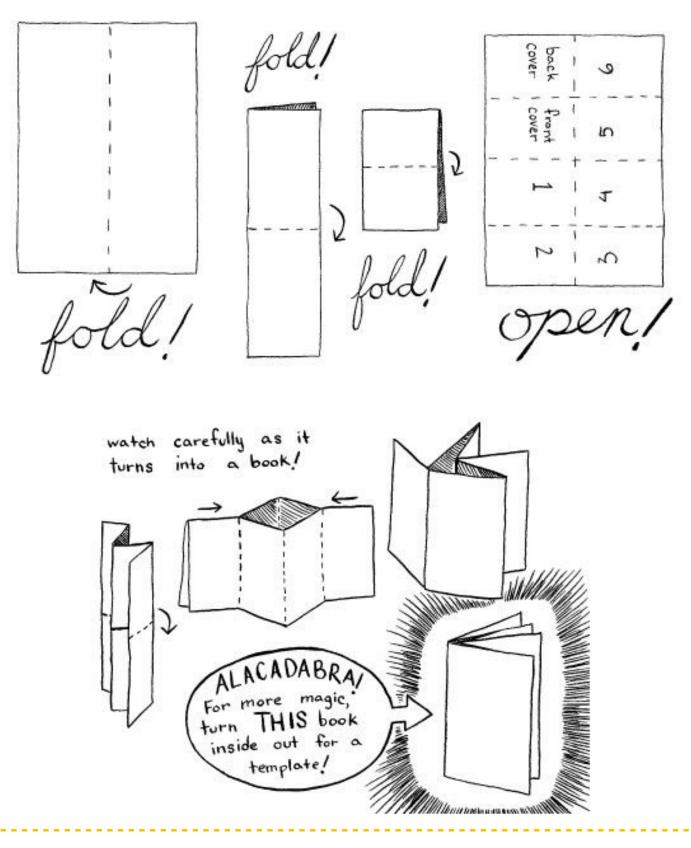

God bless,

Ruth

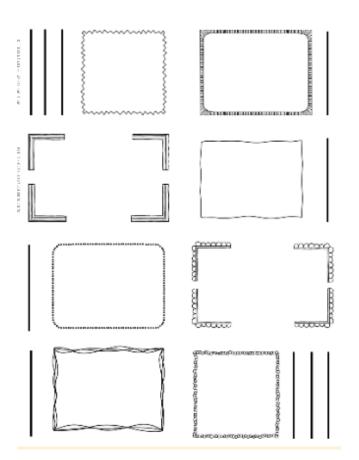

How to make a book using a single sheet of paper!!!

Fill your book with fun facts about yourself. Here are a few ideas.... What's your favourite ice cream? What are you good at? How tall are you? What book are you reading at the moment? Who is your best friend? What colour are your eyes? What's your favourite place to visit? If you have time why not make a book all about someone else– a friend, a family member– or even your pet?

Paper Book

If you need a bit more help and inspiration, follow this linkhttps:// www.kitchentableclassroom.com/how-to-make-a-book-from-a-singlepiece-of-paper/to find a template you can print out (it's free) and the watch the video to see exactly how you can make a book using a single sheet of paper. I found that I needed to trim my piece of paper by 2 cm (along the short edge) to make it work.

Fill your book with fun facts about yourself. Here are a few ideas.... What's your favourite ice cream? What are you good at? How tall are you? What book are you reading at the moment? Who is your best friend? What colour are your eyes? What's your favourite place to visit? If you have time why not make a book all about someone else– a friend, a family member– or even your pet?